Power Company Recognizes New Achievements

In an advertisement last week the Kentucky Power Company ran an advertisement entitled, "People Can Do Anything!" pointing out the fact that "Men With An Idea Started A Shirt Factory in Neon Has Created New Jobs For Nine People."

Commenting further, the ad states: "Nothing could have been further from Neon, Kentucky, last winter than the shirt industry. Yet today some 30 Neon citizens own a shirt factory. It provides nine people with jobs that never before existed. It has added to the income of five other people. And already, the Neon Manufacturing Company is outgrowing itself—seeking more working space."

"What happened to bring this about?"

"An idea . . . and 5 men willing to take a chance on it . . . willing to persuade others to take a chance. These five formed a company and sold stock at $5.00 a share. They bought several second-hand sewing machines and enough cloth to make 5 dozen shirts. "But who knew how to make shirts? Only one man in the area had such experience . . . and he was willing to train women who could sew. After two weeks the women started their new jobs . . . but progress was slow. It took a week to make that first 5 dozen shirts."

"That was last April. The plant now produces 150 dozen shirts every month . . . and five representatives carry the new line to many areas throughout Kentucky."

"We are rapidly outgrowing our present quarters," the general manager said recently. "Our production is increasing but our sales are staying ahead of production. We hope soon to be able to employ more people."

The Power Company further points out improvements made in Paintsville, Ky., where a $200,000 park has been built. The ad further states: "Eastern Kentucky will improve only as its people improve it—and, PEOPLE CAN DO ANYTHING!"

We feel elated that The Power Company is recognizing achievements in our country. It is certainly a fact that "if nothing is attempted there will be nothing done."

"Red" Kimbrell Has Page Ad in The Eagle

In this week's Eagle you will notice there appears a full page advertisement from Kimbrell's Used Car Lot in Neon.

"Red", as he is familiarly known to every one, is explaining his auto payment plan. He explains that the carrying charges on the cars he sells are carried by The Bank of Neon, at the low rate of interest of 6%. He also states it would cost his customer much more to finance payments the old way. "The Bank of Neon", said "Red" is a home institution and there are no financing companies in Neon or Letcher County, thus by giving his business to the local bank, he keeps money at home or in the county."

Jenkins Kiwanis Club Purchases Pneolator

The Kiwanis Club of Jenkins has purchased, for emergency use in the community of Jenkins, a pneolator which provides automatic artificial respiration for a victim of asphyxia, by means of intermittent positive pressure oxygen administration. The pneolator is a completely automatic instrument, requiring no manual assistance of any kind in its operation. This instrument is an advance in the field of respiration as it inflates the lungs of an unconscious patient with the right amount of oxygen at the right pressure for the individual's own specific need. It permits exhalation by normal passive return of the respiratory muscles and lungs, then applies positive pressure again, repeating the cycle continuously in proper rhythm, effectively and safely. No suction is employed by the pneolator, obviating any possibility of damage to delicate tissues.

Plans are being made to have classes of instruction to learn the operation of this instrument. Classes will be held for members of the Fire Department, Police Force, Kiwanis, and any others desiring to participate. This machine was purchased at a cost of $420.00 after approval by the Board of Directors of Kiwanis. Current plans are for the instrument to be kept in the Jenkins Fire House in order for it to be accessible to the community for any emergency.

Buddy Fields played the role of Peggie's brother, and the part of a policeman was done by Bert Back.

Keep Your Guard Up

As the attention of every citizen is directed to the subject of reserve forces as the result of President Eisenhower's warning that a strong and combat-ready reserve is paramount to the defense of America, the strongest reserve force in being today—the National Guard is brought into sharp focus.

In every war of our nation our militia has served. In two World Wars and in the Korean conflict, the National Guard mobilized and trained hundreds of thousands of civilian soldiers. The colors of our nation's National Guard carry the battle streamers of nearly every major campaign in which this country has been engaged. The Guard has a proud and long history.

It is not the desire of peace-loving Americans to support a fully mobilized army, air and sea force. Nor is it economically possible for us to support such a force. The answer is the strong reserve urged by the President. The National Guard is the most active and ready reserve in existence today.

Actively training—on the ground and in the air—are nearly 400,000 officers and men, a substantial proportion of them combat veterans of World War II and Korea.

These men—citizen-soldiers and 100 percent volunteers—are in more than 5,600 organized and equipped federally recognized units in more than 2,000 cities and towns in the 48 States, the District of Columbia, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and Alaska.

The Army National Guard has a strength in excess of 325,000 actively training in over 5,000 units. Its goal for the current fiscal year, which ends on June 30, 1955, is a strength of 375,000. Backbone of the Army Guard is its 22 infantry divisions and 5 armored divisions.

The Air Guard has more than 50,000 officers and airmen in over 620 federally recognized units. Its 27 combat wings, composed of 87 tactical squadrons of fighter and light bombers—eventually to be 100 percent jet-plane equipped—form an air umbrella over our States and Territories. Fiscal year-end strength goal for the Air Guard is 60,800—with 3,400 pilots—in 688 units.

This is a substantial force—a sound base on which a stronger reserve may be built. It is a well trained force of citizen-soldiers who are required to work hard to meet the standards of training prescribed by the Departments of the Army and the Air Force. The speed with which eight National Guard divisions, 66 tactical squadrons of the Air National Guard and hundreds of other service and combat support units of the Guard answered the call in the Korean emergency is indicative of its readiness. The Guard is our only ready reserve force today. It could be an even stronger and more ready force if steps are taken to strengthen our entire reserve.

It is imperative that we keep our Guard up.

Plank Three: Obedience to God Because God Commands

Here it is obedience unto God, the expression of faith. Again, Abraham may be our example, for his faith was made perfect when he obeyed God. (Jas. 2:20-24, Gen. 22:12).

The son of God learned obedience, and became the Savior of the obedient, as wrote the Holy Spirit saying, "Who in the days of his flesh, having offered up prayers and supplications with strong crying and tears unto him that was able to save him from death, and having been heard for his godly fear, though he was a Son, yet learned obedience by the things which he suffered; and having been made perfect, he became unto all them that obey him the author of eternal salvation." (Heb. 5:7-9). Wherefore of His own disciples Jesus said, "Not everyone that sayeth unto me, Lord, Lord, shall enter into the kingdom of heaven; but he that doeth the will of my Father, who is in heaven." (Matt. 7:21).

Since the Son is the Savior of the obedient, the apostle

Peter said, "Seeing ye have purified your souls in your obedience to the truth unto unfeigned love of the brethren, love one another from the heart fervently." (1 Peter 1:22). It is therefore in obedience to the truth that the soul is purified; and Paul adds, "Know ye not that to whom ye present yourselves as servants to obedience, his servants ye are whom ye obey; whether of sin unto faith, or of obedience unto righteousness." (Rom. 6:16).

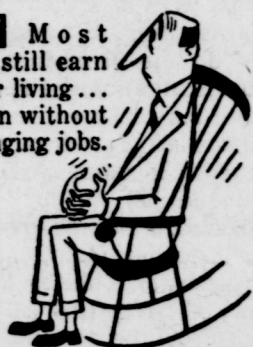

This obedience must be in the matters of faith, morals, and worship. Doing not only what God has commanded in matters of worship and service; but emphasizing all that He has commanded. This obedience is sought through an appeal to motives, these motives being the goodness of God and the fear of God. To these Paul appealed when he said, "And reckonest thou this, O man, who judgest them that practice such things, and doest the same, that thou shalt escape the judgment of God? Or despisest thou the riches of his goodness and forbearance and long suffering, not knowing that the goodness of God leadeth thee to repentance?" (Rom. 2:3, 4). Here is an appeal to judgment and goodness as motives for obedience. Plank three, then, is obedience unto God, because God commands.

"HOW WATER CONSERVATION BENEFITS MY COMMUNITY"

By Mr. Jerome M. Adams
Box 138
Jenkins, Kentucky
Letcher County

Water is essential to any living organism, cell, or productive specie. Water is required for life, and life depends upon water for the major element in her plant and animal reproductive system. Water is the basis of civilization and plays a specific role in the regulated lives of human beings.

Each year the question arises in regard to water shortage: what shall we do for more water? Can we conserve our present supply, or must we move to a more suitable locale where water is more abundant? It is the care of each person in a community to conserve water!

In our local community of Letcher County we have not been so badly seized by a water shortage, but it is predicted that within a few years this area will be critically in need of a steady water supply. At the present time our impounded supply of water is rapidly diminishing. Why? One reason is an acute shortage of rainfall. The average rainfall in Eastern Kentucky was less than two inches for the entire past summer. Another reason is that the construction of new highways and railroads has restricted a flow of surface water into streams and lakes. Still another is the pollution of our streams with sewage and silt deposits from certain locales and coal mines.

Water is greatly needed in this area for several reasons. The prominent one of course, at present, is for industrial purposes. No large factory can operate without sufficient water. Neither can commercial or recreational firms be established without first having an adequate water supply.

The streams of our community are disgraceful, and water can never be conserved if this matter is not cared for. All of the sewage of the cities in this area is sent downstream; silt from the washing of coal is also drained into the surface and run-off water. Soil erosion from the numerous slate dumps also fills our streams and raises the river beds.

All of these factors compose one problem: how can water conservation benefit my community? This question can be answered in several ways, but first it is necessary to explain the community's water supply.

Since the percentage of rainfall was so short in recent months, it has been necessary to rely upon our underground water supply—(wells, mines, caves) for our water consumption. Even this will soon decline if not conserved. Our impounded water and streams seem to have all disappeared recently.

Water conservation can best be carried out by making proper use of our water supplies. Perhaps a dam, built on the Kentucky River in Letcher County, would help to conserve our water resources, as well as supply cheap hydroelectric power.

By draining wet areas and swamps, such as those in the central portions of the county, and by releasing the underground lakes caused by mining, more water can be obtained.

If farmers and livestock owners would not allow their animals to feed in woodland areas, but practice a grazing-rotation system on different sections of their farms, top growth of the soil would control the runoff of rainfall and help the soil to absorb more water. If the small shrubbery and top plants of the woodlands are cared for, floods will be greatly reduced.

Another measure to consider in water conservation is that of private reservoirs for farm irrigation and stock water. In our vicinity there are great advantages in building small dams; near most of our farms the small hollows could be bridged and dammed to provide extra water in time of necessity. At the present time, small irrigation and water-supply units can be obtained relatively cheap, or on time basis if one's income permits. In the long run, this plan will pay for itself, even more than the original cost; it will cause a gain in farm products, providing fresh water, better crops, and a fine grade of cattle or farm animals.

If our community practices good water management we can conserve our water resources and greatly benefit our county. By having good water, and an abundant supply of it, our community can attract more industrial and commercial concerns to this area; as we know, this is the major concern of us all. Not only will it attract such businesses, but it will obtain for us a healthful place in which to live; it will provide more recreational facilities as well as managed water, flood control, and an abundant agricultural production.

He utters and votes these decisions. He is loyal to his country. He is loyal to the ideal of freedom for men in all countries.

An optimist and pessimist had recently gone into partnership and were reviewing their first month's business.

"Well, we had a wonderful month," the optimist said.

"Trade has flourished. We've had a continual run of customers."

"Yeah," agreed the pessimist sourly, "We had some pretty good business, but just look at those doors. If people keep shoving through them, the hinges will be worn out in another month."

A lawyer dropped in at the corner butcher shop and got into quite a conversation.

"What would you do sir," asked the butcher, "if a dog kept coming in and stealing meat?"

"Why, I'd make the owner pay for it, of course."

"In that case you owe me $5.00," the butcher said, elated, "because it's your dog." The lawyer smiled. "Fair enough," he agreed. "Just deduct the $15.00 from the $25 you owe me for advice."

"Patience is the Art of Hoping."

HEALTH DEPT. NEWS

Now is the time for a seasonal note on carbon monoxide poisonings, warns E. P. Pulliam, Accident Control Section Supervisor, Kentucky State Department of Health. Stoves and furnaces should be in good condition to prevent possible disaster, he added.

Carbon Monoxide is found whenever solid, liquid or gaseous fuels are burned with a low air supply, and is difficult to detect because it is colorless, odorless and tasteless.

"There is naturally more danger in cold weather because of reduced ventilation in the home and greater use of fuel," Mr. Pulliam said. A gas stove if properly installed or adjusted can be a hazard. Coal and oil furnaces may be if a flue is choked with soot; a source of carbon monoxide and has not been cleaned, or if the burner does not have complete combustion because of improper adjustment.

A regular inspection of the flue, chimney and drafts for soot accumulations will also pay off in economy of operation. Fresh coal fire may give off coal gas, and a good draft should be maintained to carry this gas up the flue.

Gas utility companies service home appliances for safety's sake, and advice on the condition of the furnace or its operation is available room fuel dealers or heating experts.

Carbon monoxide poisoning will give a slight headache or muscular weakness which usually is not too noticeable. Unconsciousness can follow, then death if prompt treatment is not given. "Check your heating appliances today," Mr. Pulliam urged.

NEXT MEETING — Tuesday, February 15.

SPEAKER — Jack Burckich.

SUBJECT — Travels.

ABSENT — Lewis and June (both sick) Ray, Virgil and Ken. Hope this "flu bug" lets up on Lewis and June.

GUESTS — Maurice Moore and Wendus Franklin from the High School and Kermit had Cecil Barnes as part of his program.

Kermit gave us a short talk on the part the grocery business plays in our economy and its importance. Also told us something of the problems of a grocer. He then turned the balance of the time over to Cecil who gave his talk on "I Am An American. I speak for Democracy." Certainly was very fine and much enjoyed by everyone. So long as we have young men like Cecil and Maurice and Wendus and so long as our schools teach them the value of our way of life and that our freedom was not easily won and is not easily kept we feel that America will be in safe hands.

ATTENTION WOODROW: And all others — The Anniversary Party is now set for Tuesday night, March 8 (hope it is not changed again before this gets printed). Time and place to be announced later.

Jack has the program for next week and will talk about "Travels." Don't quite know what that includes but knowing Jack we know it will be good. How about giving him a 100% meeting? (Get awful tired of harping on this but surely we can have at least one during February).

President Otis named Archie, Lewis, Pearl and Herman on the nominating committee. Anyone interested, please file your applications with Archie.

Pine Mountain Baptist Associational Missionary

By John R. Isaacs

Progress, yes, any kind of progress, is not made in one steady stream, but rather comes in different "hitches." Ideas are seldom, if ever, complete and polished, but only contain a few outstanding points.

Last Sunday, Feb. 6, 1955, was a very fine day in the life of our Pine Mountain Association. The different churches met in the beautiful auditorium of the First Baptist Church at Jenkins, and for many it was the first time to see the new church, however, the most interesting part of the service was the splendid spirit of the people who came.

Perhaps the most significant part of the service was unnoticed — An Executive Committee meeting of the Associational Sunday School officers. The results of this meeting were these: In the Associational Sunday School Meeting, which meets at the Central Church in Cumberland on March 6, 1955, there will be two particular features — Our State Sunday School Secretary, Roy E. Boatright, will be the main speaker, and will speak on "New Sunday Schools," and there will be a short conference period of fifteen minutes on the same subject. The general purpose of this meeting will be to try to get each church in our Association to elect a superintendent of New Work, and if possible to elect a committee known as a "Missions Committee." This superintendent and committee will attempt to get their church to go out and establish new Sunday Schools where there are no Sunday Schools.

The superintendent of New Work for the Association is Brother Charles Wilder, of the Central Baptist Church in Cumberland, so it is quite a significant meeting in that we are studying new Sunday Schools at the Central Church with the superintendent of New Work and we are attempting to get each church to start a New Sunday School.

On Sunday morning, 11:00 (EST), March 6, 1955, Rev. Roy E. Boatright, State Sunday School Secretary, will speak at the dedication of the new church building at Jenkins, then speak at the Sunday School meeting at 3:00 p.m. (EST) at the Central Baptist Church in Cumberland.

Let us not forget the Simultaneous Revival, which begins on April 10 and continues through April 24, 1955. Along with that let us plan to take the best Census of our church fields that we have ever taken. We do not know where lost people are by guessing.

Now, our thought for the week — You may be a little confused about "Beliefs," but the thing you should be most concerned about is — In "Whom" have I believed.

Specially developed truck haulers carry as much as 50 tons of coal at a time in stripping operations, and cost $5,000, or more.

ASK THE MAN TO OPEN THE HOOD!

Ask: "Does this truck have a modern Short Stroke V-8 engine?"

HOW TO TELL if it's a short-stroke engine: check the printed specifications! The "stroke" is always as short as, or shorter than the "bore."

THIS YEAR the truck industry is beginning to follow Ford's lead to modern short-stroke V-8's. They last longer—prolong ring life up to 53%! Save up to one gallon of gas in seven! But ONLY FORD has four V-8's . . . one for every size truck in a full line . . . available right now!

Modern short-stroke V-8's are beginning to take over in trucks—just as they've already done in passenger cars. So, if today you buy a truck with anything less than a modern short-stroke engine, what will happen to its ultimate trade-in value? Play it safe! Go modern! Go Short Stroke! Go Ford!

We have 'em NOW!

They Wait for Peace
A colored moving picture which gives an outstanding account of modern Korea will be shown at 7:45 p. m., Feb. 10, 1955 at T. D. Isaacs' at Deane, Ky., by Rockhouse Bible Church or Democrat, Ky., of which David E. Binks is the Pastor.

The picture, entitled "They Wait for Peace," was filmed during the closing days of the Korean conflict. The horrors of the war and the wreckage it has left in its wake are vividly presented.

The historic signing of the truce between the United Nations and the Communists at Panmunjom is a highlight of the film. The picture also gives an accurate presentation of the hardships and needs of the restless Korean people. The courage of Korean soldiers and of Korean Christians is seen as together they struggle to find peace for their buffeted country.

In the midst of war's desolation, Christian Missions in Korea continue. Schools, churches, orphanages and other avenues of service carried out by faithful missionaries will be seen.

This film is presented by the Film Department of the Bible Institute of Los Angeles, an institution which trains Christian workers. Founded more than 45 years ago, the school has graduates serving in all mission fields of the world.

No charge for admission—a free will offering will be taken up to help the Institute train missionaries, etc. There will be singing and a short message before the showing of the picture.

ARE YOU DISCOURAGED?

Remember this: When Abraham Lincoln was a young man, he ran for the Legislature in Illinois and was badly swamped.

He next entered business, failed, and spent seventeen years of his life paying up the debts of a worthless partner.

He was in love with a beautiful young woman, to whom he became engaged—then she died.

He then tried to get an appointment to the U. S. Land Office, but failed.

Entering politics again, he ran for Congress and was badly defeated.

He became a candidate for the U. S. Senate and was badly defeated.

In 1856 he became a candidate for the Vice Presidency and was again defeated.

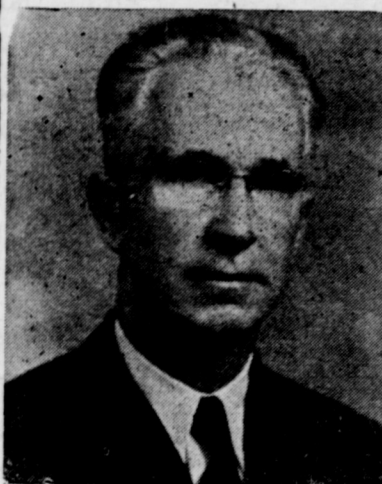

In 1858, he was defeated by Douglas.

One failure after another—bad failures—great setbacks. In the face of all this, he eventually became one of the country's greatest men, if not the greatest.

When you think of a series of setbacks like this, does it make you feel small to become discouraged just because you think you are having a hard time in life?

THE PARSON SAYS:

E. Hampton Barnette

I would like to begin to hear some, "Gees and haws," during the first warm days. Those old mules and horses have been stalled all winter just eating and swishing their tails. Now get them out, and sink the plowshares into the good earth. Plowing while it is still freezing is good for the land. It pulverizes the soil, and gives many bugs a chance to go off and die.

When I smell spring in the air, and see the robins parading across the lawns, and picking up feathers, and straws; I begin to want to go to the woods and find some spring flowers. Within two weeks now the spring flora will be peeping through the leaves.

Sassafras tea will be served in many teapots and tincups. All the boneset is about gone from the attics. A lot of people have a little faith in boneset, snakeroot, old field blossom, and goose grease. It looks like the doctors have substituted other medicines for these old remedies which served so well in the past.

The groundhog has predicted pretty weather pretty soon. One non-believer in the groundhog told me the other day that we were going to have bad weather. Why have groundhogs if they are not going to tell the truth? Now this one said "Pretty weather." He did not see his shadow in these parts. I have already been reading my calendars, and it looks like we are in for an early spring.

Lettuce, onions, radishes, and potatoes can be planted any time the ground is ready from now on.

We raised very good crops last season. A lot of people have come to realize that we must produce more things on our farms in Letcher County. Work has not been so good. It is not certain that it will be much better for sometime and raise more food this year yet. So we should all get busy than last.

Nearly all we raised last year is gone. Meat houses, granaries, cellars, deepfreezes, and barns are getting lower and lower by the week. I am afraid some will not hold out until the new crops come in. Empty storage places for food are like last year's bird's nests. It takes new birds to build new nests, but believe me the birds are already on the wing. We should get all our tools ready and get to the fields and gardens and fill them up again. We need not expect some one else to fill them for us.

Strawberries can become a very important money-making crop in these parts. Some of your needed cash money can be earned by a patch of these luscious berries and they come in early. The market is always good for them. But they are like some people I know, if you don't cultivate them they will soon die out. They are too lazy to work themselves out of the weeds, and they simply go wild.

Chickens and eggs are very profitable. If you don't know how to raise chickens ask Dr. Collier. I saw some of his raising themselves on top of Pine Mountain.

When you get through your week's work, don't say, "I am too tired to go to church," I have heard that one, but show your interest in the better life by attending your church every Sunday, rain or shine, tired or lazy.

JENKINS SCHOOL NEWS

DRIVER TRAINING

The Jenkins High School for the past year has been teaching Driver Training to Juniors and Seniors. The class is moving along very nicely, thanks to Mr. Bill Potter of the Potter Motor Company, who although not a General Motors dealer has furnished the school with a used Chevrolet car which is in wonderful condition and is meeting the needs of the class. Mr. Potter came to our rescue after several dealers had been contacted but with no success. It is hoped that before another year a General Motors dealer in the City of Jenkins, or out of the city, will provide our high school with a driver training car just as is being done in many, many school systems of Kentucky.

After the resignation of Glenn Runyon as teacher of sixth grade at Lower McRoberts School, Superintendent Snapp and the Jenkins Board of Education are happy to announce that Mrs. June M. Ingram, who has her master's Degree has taken over the work and is making good progress. A vacancy which will occur in the English Department of the High School will possibly be filled by Mrs. Jean Sears of Grays, Ky. Mrs. Sears is an experienced teacher and well qualified for the work.

A new room is nearing completion on the first floor of the Jenkins High School and will be occupied as a home room or for classroom purposes by the close of the week. This room is being prepared from a portion of what was formerly a play room and is made necessary because the high school enrolled the largest number in its history.

Homer C. Davis, Principal of the Jenkins High School, recently received notice that a clear rating had been given to the high school by the Southern Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools. This is the highest rating that a high school can be given in the Southern States, and, of course, the people of the Jenkins School are very happy that the Jenkins High School remains on the SA approved list.

All schools of the district are busy with preparations for the annual speech festival which has been announced for March 7. Prior to that date the several school units will hold their eliminations following classroom eliminations. Perhaps in excess of one thousand pupils will participate in these classroom eliminations. All principals during the monthly supervisory meeting held on the evening of Monday, February 7, announced that good progress is being made toward a successful reading festival. Patrons of the Jenkins Schools should mark the date "March 7" on their calendars.

The patrons of the Jenkins School and the Dunham School are looking forward to a joint meeting of the Parent Teacher Associations of these two schools, the same to be conducted at the Jenkins High School Auditorium on the evening of February 21. Both associations will participate in the program of the evening.

Several members of the supervisory and administrative staff of the Jenkins Schools will attend the School Master's Meeting at Whitesburg High School, February 12.

All patrons are requested to hear a program over WSAZ TV on Sunday, February 13 at 6:30 to 6:45 p. m. (EST). This program will deal with the future of education in Kentucky.

The girls of the Jenkins High School Glee Club are busy getting subscriptions for The Mountain Eagle. All funds obtained from this campaign will be used to assist the girls in making the trip to the Music Festival in Corbin the last of April.

The Jenkins Board of Education has set up its regular monthly meeting dates for the second Monday of the month at 7:30 p. m. The board will hold its regular meeting on February 14.

Jenkins patrons, subscribe for The Mountain Eagle and read the news of your schools each week.

Pine Mountain Baptist Associational Missionary

By John R. Isaacs

This week has been and is a very interesting week for me. I speak to two of our High Schools every month, and I must say that it is a real pleasure to me to speak to our boys and girls. I speak to Stuart Robinson and Kingdom Come High Schools on successive days. Mr. Jack Burkich is doing a fine job at Stuart Robinson, and Mr. Watts is doing a fine job at Kingdom Come. I also enjoy a fine lunch with the Kingdom Come school when I go there. Their lunch room is certainly wonderful. The supervision is fine and the cooking is excellent, and the boys and girls show real appreciation for it. In the places where the children are close to a eating place the difference is not noticed so much, but where the boys and girls have to eat a cold lunch on cold days the lunch room is a real blessing. Mr. Watts tells me there is a definite trend toward better grades since the lunch room is in operation to say nothing of the children being happier and picking up a few needed pounds—Thanks to our county for such foresight.

Now, our work for this week-end. Our Associational Sunday School meeting meets at Jenkins on February 6, at 3:00 p.m. (EST). The Executive Committee of the Associational Sunday School organization meets at 2:30 to plan the program for the March meeting. These are those who should attend the Executive Meeting: Assn. S. S. Supt., Supt. of Training, Supt. of Enlargement, Supt. of Standards, Supt. of V. B. S., Group Supts. and nine Dept. Leaders along with the Moderator of the Assn., the Assn. Miss., and of course the Secretary of the Assn. S. S. Work. This Executive Meeting not only is one of the requirements for Standard work, but is an essential to see or need and plan our monthly programs to meet those needs. In planning a month's program a month ahead of time there can be proper preparation for it as well as any necessary adjustment to it.

The Sunday School program for Sunday will be along the line of "Standards." We will go from the top to the bottom and see how the "Standards" unite our work and give us a concerted effort from the top to the class approach.

Now, this thought for the week, Who is our Standard?, and are we seeking to reach His "Standard," so in all our work we seek to "Lift up a Standard." (See you next week).

FOLLOWING MY GUIDE

I know, I will not, miss the way.
My guide is, always near.
Though trouble often dims the path
I call Him, and He hears.
When darkness gathers 'round me,
And my pathway seems dim
I know my guide is, near me,
And I kneel, and call to Him.
He leads me through the wilderness,
Of heartache and despair
When my way is dimmed by gloom,
I know my Guide is near.
I am glad that I can follow
Wherever He bids me go,
Though the way be rough and thorny
It will lead me home, I know,
I will follow through the darkness,
Though the path I may not see,
I feel the presence of my Guide,
And I know He is leading me.
I will follow where He leads me,
And some glad happy day

He will lead me home, to heaven,
When life's cares have passed away.
—Rebecca Jones.

Where Pride Leads to Economy!

This gasoline station isn't accustomed to being ignored by the cars that pass its way. For it resides at the edge of a great desert—and it is many, many miles to the next fueling point.

But the big, handsome automobile you see here swept by without so much as a sign of recognition! For it is a new 1955 Cadillac—and its owner knows that he can travel from his morning's start until his evening's stop without a single refueling.

Of course, when a motorist decides to order his first Cadillac, he isn't usually aware that the car is so economical to operate—and so practical to own.

He wants a Cadillac for what it is and represents—and for the great pride and pleasure it will bring him.

But it isn't long before he discovers where his pride has led him!

He discovers it first when he prices the Cadillac of his choice. Invariably, he is surprised at its relatively modest cost. Not infrequently, he finds that it actually costs less than the car he is currently driving.

And then, once his Cadillac is delivered into his hands, he discovers how frugal it is with a gallon of gasoline. He finds, as we said, that a full tank is usually sufficient for a full day's drive.

Next, he learns of Cadillac's extraordinary dependability. In fact, he often has to be reminded when the time has come for routine service.

But not until he surrenders his Cadillac to its second owner does he discover the full wonder of Cadillac's economy. For then he learns how amazingly it holds its value—and how little a year's service affects the public's regard for the car.

All this is to say, of course, that you don't have to follow your pride to the "car of cars." You can, if you prefer, make your decision solely on the basis of economy—and still buy a Cadillac!

Come in soon—and see for yourself! We've got the facts—and we'll be delighted to see you at any time!

STATEMENT OF HONORABLE CARL D. PERKINS BEFORE THE HOUSE VETERANS AFFAIRS COMMITTEE, JAN. 24, 1955

The President's Executive Order ending the accumulation of benefits under the GI Bill of Rights as of January 31, 1955, has been made in accordance with the legal provisions of this Act. I do not feel, however, that full consideration was given to the fact that so long as our American boys are drafted into military service, thereby forcing them to discontinue their educational program or their employment experience which gives them both seniority rights and the "know-how" necessary for their future economic welfare, I feel that the government should compensate them, in part at least, for this intangible loss. The callous attitude of the military authorities toward these human problems is well illustrated by a story in the Washington Post and Times Herald of January 20, 1955, that the Air Force has discontinued accepting volunteers until February 1, 1955 after which date no further rights can be accrued for educational benefits, unemployment insurance, or other veterans benefits now existing under the GI Bill of Rights. This indicates that both the action of the military authorities and the President's Executive Order were made solely for the purpose of economy. I am also in favor of economy in Government but not at the expense of our youths who give two or more of the best years of their lives for the defense of our country, ever ready to face any danger for which their duty may call them. These young men should have at least rights equal to the civilian employees of the Government who, upon separation from Government service, are now eligible for unemployment insurance payments. Do our Government and military authorities believe that economy should begin by curtailing the rights of our boys who volunteer or are drafted to our military service to a point drastically below that of our Federal civilian employees?

I feel that it is an obligation of our Government to compensate the young men who have served honorably in our military establishments by providing them with an opportunity to complete their education and in case they are unable to obtain employment upon their return to civilian life to provide for them an economic cushion in the form of unemployment insurance. In the area which I am privileged to represent in Eastern Kentucky more than one-third of the industrial workers have been unemployed for the past year. If these experienced workers are unable to obtain employment either at home or in other industrial centers, can it be assumed that the economic upturn is so great that discharged ex-service men will obtain immediate jobs. To discriminate against these ex-service men to such an extent that they return to civilian life only to find that unemployed industrial workers and recently released Federal workers are eligible for unemployment insurance while these veterans of the Armed Services are not, would be a real blow to the morale in our first line of defense. For that reason, I am introducing this bill to extend the provisions of the GI Bill of Rights so long as our young men continue to be drafted into the Armed Services.

This bill will also continue the Veterans Home Loan Program which has been an important item in maintaining the essential home construction boom during the change-over from a wartime to a peacetime economy. This has been a real value to our veterans and the long run cost will be negligible as these loans are fully covered by mortgages and could show an actual profit.

FORMULA FEED

During February

Southern States Cooperative has again taken the lead in helping farmers ease the squeeze between dwindling farm income and continued high costs of producing milk, meat, and eggs. Southern States and Cooperative Service Agencies have joined in arbitrarily slashing prices on formula feeds during February at the rate of $4.00 per ton under current bag-lot prices, on orders of one-half ton or more at one time (one or more feeds may be included in total order). This reduction applies on all feeds except (1) Southern States Drought Emergency Dairy Feeds; (2) Southern States feeds supplied under contract feeding programs; (3) Scratch grains; (4) grain goods; and (5) ingredients.

Though prices have been cut sharply, there has been no reduction in the usual high quality of Southern States feeds. They will continue to give you the most for your feed dollar.

Look what this means to you

- * 20 cents saving on every bag of feed you buy.
- * $20.00 more profit in raising 1,000 broilers.
- * About 1 cent more profit in producing eggs (about 25 cents a case).
- * $30.00 more profit per month in feeding a herd of 50 dairy cows.
- * $1.75 more profit for each 200 pounds of weight gain in hogs.
- * $45.00 more profit in raising 1,000 Beltsville White Turkeys.
- * $125.00 more profit in raising 1,000 Bronze Turkeys.

Only Car at its Price*...

So Smart! So Big! So Powerful!

*You can buy a big, powerful Pontiac for less than many models of the lowest-priced cars!

Whatever you want most in a car—beauty, size or performance—you get it in extra measure in a Pontiac. In fact, when you choose Pontiac the decision comes very easily—because Pontiac alone, at its price, gives you everything!

For example, take Pontiac's distinctive smartness. Certainly there is no question on this point. Pontiac is the one car that stands apart from all the others.

If it's size and big-car sure-footedness you want—Pontiac's your car! Pontiac's long wheelbase—124 inches in the Star

Chief, shown here, and 122 inches in the 860 and 870 series—is the plus wheelbase that provides the roominess, the comfort, the satisfying road-hugging security that only a big car can supply.

As for performance—once you get behind the wheel you have all the proof you need that Pontiac is way ahead in this department, too. Pontiac's spectacular performance starts with the most modern engine of all—the powerful new Strato-Streak V-8—specifically designed for Pontiac's all-new chassis to give you balanced performance. That means smooth, eager getaway in traffic; power to spare on the open road; and even more of Pontiac's traditional economy, dependability and long life.

All this adds up to a wonderful car and—with Pontiac's remarkably low price tag—a very wonderful buy. Come in soon and talk dollars and cents. If you're in the market for any new car, you'll discover you can easily afford all the pride and pleasure of a big, powerful, luxury-loaded Pontiac.

HOMEMAKERS CORNER

MISS ROBERTA HALCOMB
Home Demonstration Agent

From what I hear the lessons on Vitamin A are going just fine. It is a subject worth knowing about.

SCHEDULE:

There will be a district planning meeting in Paintsville, Wednesday, February 16. The County President or Vice President is to attend with the home agent. The Camp Branch-Colson Club will meet Thursday, February 17, at 10:00 at the home of Mrs. Esba Everidge.

SPECIAL:

A couple of weeks ago I told you there would possibly be good news soon. I'm happy to announce that Miss Virginia Dale Ratliff of Pike County will begin her work here as Assistant Home Demonstration Agent on February 14. You'll be seeing her around now.

RECIPE:

I notice we are getting some nice endive on the market now, and this makes a very nice salad.

ENDIVE SALAD

1 bunch of endive
1 large pepper
6 radishes
French Dressing
Separate stalk of endive, wash, and chill. Arrange endive on salad plates. Garnish with strips of green pepper and quartered radishes. Serve with french dressing.

Or try adding sprigs of endive in your tossed salad—its very good and pretty as well.

VEGETABLE COOKERY

Vegetables Need Proper

Cooking

A green vegetable every day even in mid-winter is a familiar rule for nutrition-wise homemakers. But a reminder from the UK School of Home Economics states that the manner of cooking is important if food value is not to be lost.

The darker green the vegetable, the more vitamins it contains. Hence foods authorities recommend using all of the broccoli leaves and stems that are edible, as well as the buds, and the outer green leaves of cabbage. If vegetables must be held a day or two before using, keep them moist in a plastic bag that is tightly closed. Lettuce and green beans also remain fresh and crisp stored in this way.

Cook green vegetables quickly in a covered container until just tender and still slightly crisp. Long cooking makes them limp, and changes color and flavor. Frozen vegetables should be cooked according to directions on the package.

There will possibly be a homemakers club organized at Democrat the latter part of this month. You ladies in that section see Mrs. Sam Sargent for more information.
